

A Theory to Save the World

First we must acknowledge our world needs saving. Our global economies are in distress. Our impact on the environment is significant and creating measurable harm to both Human Life and Nature. There is great social inequality and social friction throughout the world. War and violence are commonplace. Humanity stands divided across countless barriers, borders, and faiths. Born from thousands of years of Human History and culture we have come so far as to reach the heavens. Yet we still bicker and make war.

This is the world as it is. But it is not the world as it could be.
Humanity has not lived up to it's full potential.

We possess the technological and scientific capabilities to solve OUR WORLD'S PROBLEMS. No longer shall there be a first world and third world but ONE WORLD. We shall apply the lessons learned from all our histories to SAVE THE WORLD.

First we must see ourselves as ONE PEOPLE.

History teaches us that the most efficient way to unite differing peoples is with a common threat. We see this through treaties and alliances and international organizations. So I shall present some of our common threats:

- Pestilence
- Famine
- War
- Hate and indifference

Here lies the root causes of most of Humanity's suffering.

People of medicine, science and agriculture have long battled those first two foes.

Our people of science, our students of nature and the universe have warned us of other threats.

The threat of flood.

The threat of lost biodiversity.

The threat of asteroids.

War creates it's own threats.

Threat of nuclear war.

The continued threat of terror.

All of these dangers stand before us and we are ill-equipped to defend ourselves.

So I beg of thee Humanity, we must save ourselves!

Stand together Humanity!

For together we possess the power to defeat these foes.

We must rise above our differences.

Let us restore hope to the world!

Let us become more than we are!

It is time.

Our ancestors have earned a better future with their words, deeds, and blood.

Let us honor their sacrifices and their suffering by creating a better world for all of Humanity.

We shall set precedent for all future generations! We shall imprint hope into Human History.

If the victorious write history, if to the victor go the spoils, then let all of Humanity be victorious!

Awaken Humanity, our time has come.

Let us save ourselves.
